PRESS RELEASE

Following a competitive tender, BNP Paribas Real Estate has been appointed by Generali Real Estate and Athora to manage all of their real estate assets in Belgium and Luxembourg.

The portfolio under management by BNP Paribas Real Estate is made up of eight office assets with a total surface area of approximately 63,000m², as well as seven residential care homes. The 'office' component consists of seven buildings located in the heart of the Belgian capital, the most representative of which are the 'Aria' building at Ravenstein 36 in the city centre and the Montoyer 47 building, located close to Place du Luxembourg, with a surface area of nearly 10,000m². The last of these office assets is located in Gasperich in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg. This is the AlterDomus head office, located in the Melius Office Building, with a surface area of 10,600m².

The portfolio of nursing homes includes seven facilities, with four in Flanders and three in Wallonia.

"We are honoured to have been trusted by Generali to manage these properties. This new undertaking reaffirms that we can fulfil our customers' needs while delivering a high-quality service that can keep up with the changing role of a real estate manager", explains Frédéric Van de Putte, CEO of BNP Paribas Real Estate

In order to deliver a high-quality service, BNP Paribas Real Estate has recruited several employees specifically for this major undertaking, all of whom have well-rounded experience in the real estate management sector.
